CONVENTIONS AND CRISES/ The Republicans

"My hat's in the ring" The fight is on and I'm stripped to the buff," said Theodore Roosevelt as he roared into Chicago in June 1912 for the 15th national convention of the Republican Party.

Roosevelt was mad. For four years he had stood fuming while his hand-picked successor to the presidency, William Howard Taft, whose real ambition was to be Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, allowed a conservative Congress to undo the progressive reforms of Roosevelt's administration.

Terrific Teddy had gone to Africa to shoot lions after leaving office in 1908. Now he was itching to bag some elephants—fat, smug ones.

The deck was stacked against a Roosevelt comeback, however. First, there was the anti-third-term tradition (though he had only been elected president once, in 1904, having succeeded William McKinley after the latter's assassination in 1901). More important, the conservatives had control of the national committee. In disputes over credentials, they ruled against the Roosevelt delegates.

The Taft men expected physical violence—so much so that they took the precaution of stringing barbed wire around the platform in the Chicago Coliseum, underneath the patriotic bunting. Squads of extra police guards stood around the hall.

But the Taft steamroller proceeded smoothly, flattening all opposition. The infuriated Roosevelt finally withdrew his name, telling his supporters not to ratify the fraudulent convention by participating in it.

On the roll call, Taft was nominated with

by Don Oakley and Ed Kudlaty

561 votes. Roosevelt got 107. There was a smattering of others for Robert La Follette and Charles Evans Hughes.

No less than 349 delegates, however, abstained from voting in this the bitterest convention in the party's history.

Roosevelt roared out of Chicago, taking the progressive Republicans with him, and roared back again in August, when his Bull Moose Party held its first and only convention.

In the elections of 1912, Roosevelt received 4.2 million votes; Taft 3.4 million. But the new president was the Democratic candidate, Woodrow Wilson, although his 6.2 million total was far from a majority.

Both Taft and Roosevelt had some small satisfaction, however. Each had kept the other out of the White House.

David-Goliath Role Keeps Scranton Cool in Race

By REILMAN MORIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton knows he is in a David-and-Goliath position in his duel with Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination. It doesn't seem to bother him.

He is a very cool candidate. "I'm the underdog," he tells his audiences, serenely. "I'm accustomed to that. I know how to fight as an underdog."

Scranton's problem, however, is that he has yet to find the sling and the rock to slay his Goliath. By his own calculations, he must wrench 76 delegates away from Goldwater in the waning hours before the GOP convention in order to stop the Arizona senator from winning on the first ballot.

So Scranton is racing the clock. This is a cliff-hanger. But he maintains an appearance of remarkable composure, a marble calm with no visible cracks.

His campaign is low key, the soft sell.

He meets privately with state delegations and talks mainly about fiscal responsibility in government, a strong foreign policy, and civil rights, which he equates with human rights.

Scranton's principal contention is that Goldwater, if nominated, "can't win."

He tells a story about the critical moment when President Dwight D. Eisenhower decided to end the Marines into Lebanon. When Eisenhower reached this decision, Scranton says the late John Foster Dulles, then secretary of state, said, "Mr. President, do you realize what this may mean?"

Scranton, speaking in a low, quiet voice, says, "Every president since the end of World War II has been faced with such decisions. Don't send a man to the White House who is impulsive. Send a man there who thinks deeply."

It seems unlikely that the point is lost on many listeners.

In Illinois, where Scranton is to spend the next two days, the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was extremely popular. Scranton attempts to show that Goldwater is not another Taft.

"Robert A. Taft was a conservative in the true sense of the word," the governor says. "But the positions taken by my opponent are the very opposite of Taft's."

He lists three or four areas of legislation that Taft sponsored and says "my opponent voted against every one of them."

Scranton is trying to conduct his campaign in such a way as not to alienate Goldwater's followers. He says many of them are "dedicated people."

This is putting it mildly.

At virtually every place Scranton went in the last week, Chicago, Salt Lake City, Seattle, Eugene, Ore., and the Dakotas, Goldwater placards, hats and other regalia met his eye at the airports and hotels. The most common was "We will Barry you."

Scranton blithely ignored it. At the GOP state convention in Eugene, a group of Goldwater supporters were standing at one side of Hall. Scranton looked directly at them when he spoke of "those who perceive the future in a rear-view mirror."

In some ways, Scranton reminds you of the late President John F. Kennedy.

He is young (46), tall, slim and good looking. He has a sly wit and he thinks fast on his feet. Last week when the Illinois delegation voted 48 for Goldwater, 10 non-voting and none Scranton, he commented, "I came to Illinois with the calculation that 54 delegates would vote for my opponent. Ten delegates did not vote for him. So we are on our way!"

In other words, that wasn't a defeat at all; it was an unexpected victory.

Scranton has an attractive family. His wife, Mary, and two of his four children, Susan, 18 and Bill, 16, are traveling with him.

At this point, Goldwater may have as many as 700 delegates, perhaps even 50 more than he needs to win the nomination. Scranton won't say how many he considers are with him. But he says, "I'm ahead of Eisenhower and Wendell Wilkie at this stage."

In 23 states, Scranton has representatives working to persuade 76 delegates to come over to his camp.

The convention is only a week away. David is still looking for weapons before he confronts Goliath. He seems unperturbed.

Grenade Thrown At U.S. Viet Nam Embassy

By PETER ARNETT
 SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Viet Cong terrorist threw a grenade at the U. S. Embassy in Saigon today but it failed to explode.

The grenade was hidden in a loaf of bread that the terrorist tore open before throwing the grenade. In his excitement he pulled the detonating mechanism from the grenade instead of just the pin and it did not go off, an embassy spokesman said.

Vietnamese police cordoned off the boulevard leading past the embassy.

Vietnamese embassy drivers who were witnesses said the bomb was thrown by a Vietnamese dressed in white trousers and a shirt. He got away.

American inside the embassy were ordered to stay in until a thorough search was made of the area. Then they were allowed to go home for lunch.

An American demolitions expert said if the grenade had exploded, it probably would have damaged some of the embassy cars and injured their drivers, who were standing at the entrance to the embassy.

The incident took place less than 24 hours before the arrival of the new U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

Political Pulse Quickens As GOP Prepares Platform

By GLENN URBAN
Gazette Telegraph
Political Writer

(This is the first in a series about the forthcoming National Republican Convention — Ed.)

The political pulse of the nation quickens noticeably next week.

The Republicans will open their national convention in San Francisco Monday in the Cow Palace.

The purpose of the convention is to write a platform of party principles and name the presidential nominee and his running mate (vice presidential nominee) — the team that will go forth this fall to do political battle with the Democrats under the banner of the party platform, with the aim being to be elected in the Nov. 3 general election.

Since presidential candidates are not picked by lot, and a considerable amount of time and energy goes into such a race, now is the time to look back and see who has entered this race, where they came from, where they are now, and how they got there.

At this time, the contest seems to be one between two men.

—Arizona Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, 55, avowed conservative, who became an official candidate early in the year, and who at this time professes to have promised to him more than the 655 delegate votes necessary to win the nomination on the first ballot.

—Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, 47, who insisted all through the first five months of this year that he was not a candidate, and then suddenly jumped into the fray in mid-June in a "Stop Goldwater" move. So far, he probably has fewer than 100 delegates.

However, there are other candidates, and of course as the ball game is never over until the final out, so a man never has the nomination until the votes are counted. Actually, the Republicans have had at least eight candidates this year, and some count more than that.

Here is a list of the primary candidates, and others also mentioned in one way or another.

Goldwater, the front runner. Henry Cabot Lodge, 62, who recently returned from South Vietnam where he served as U.S. ambassador for about 10 months. He probably has more than 40 delegates, including the 14 he claimed by winning the New Hampshire primary, and most of the 34 of his home state, Massachusetts.

Richard M. Nixon, 51, former vice president, who has never officially declared his candidacy this year, although he has always claimed he was available. He probably has about 15 delegates.

Nelson A. Rockefeller, 56, governor of New York, who jumped into the race last year and fought Goldwater from New Hampshire to California. He probably has about 120 delegates including the 18 he claimed by winning the Oregon primary and all or almost all of the New York delegation of 92.

George W. Romney, 57, governor of Michigan. He probably can claim much of the Michigan delegation of 48, but that might be all. He has never declared himself a candidate.

Scranton, who did not enter a single primary. He can claim most of the 64 Pennsylvania delegates, and a scattering of strength elsewhere.

Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith, 66, senator from Maine. She has a few delegates, probably all of Maine's 14.

Harold Stassen, 57, former governor of Minnesota, who entered the New Hampshire primary and contested here and there across the country. So far as is known, he does not have a single delegate.

It is not known if all those men will be nominated. At this writing, in fact, only two men are certain to be nominated—Goldwater and Scranton.

Other potential candidates, whose names have been mentioned at least by someone are: Kentucky Sen. Thruston Morton. It is doubtful if he could take more than half of the Kentucky delegation of 24, and he might have no more than 10 or 12 delegates in the event his name is put in nomination.

Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio. He might claim a few more than half of the 58 Ohio delegates.

Oregon Gov. Mark O. Hatfield. He was mentioned as a darkhorse, who might claim the Oregon delegates if they were released by Rockefeller.

John W. Byrnes, representative from Wisconsin. He claims all of Wisconsin's 30 delegates for the first ballot as a favorite son.

Others also have had some mention — for instance three Colorado Republicans have had some sort of mention as possible favorite sons — Gov. John A. Love, Sen. Gordon Allott and Sen. Peter Dominick.

The first question that is likely to come to mind is how in the world did the party come to get so many candidates and potential candidates?

In 1952, Dwight D. Eisenhower, a five star general of the Army, commander of the victorious Allied forces in World War II, president of Columbia University, commander of NATO forces in Europe as United States built up Western Europe to thwart Russian power moves there, resigned from the Army to take a try at politics.

He won the Republican nomination, and then was elected president, defeating former Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson handily — 442 electoral votes to 89, with an edge of 8.5 million in popular votes.

His victory ended Democratic control of the White House that had begun with Franklin D. Roosevelt's victory in 1932, and had been continued by President Harry Truman who did not run in 1952.

Eisenhower won reelection in 1956, again defeating Stevenson, this time by a total of 457 electoral votes to 74, and a 9 million popular vote margin.

For both of Eisenhower's terms, Nixon served as vice president.

With eight years behind him as vice president in 1960, Nixon had no trouble getting the presidential nomination. His running mate was Lodge.

Stevenson was again a Democratic candidate for the nomination, but a newcomer, first term Sen. John F. Kennedy from Massachusetts, copied the nomination and named as his running mate his primary opponent, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

The Nixon-Lodge ticket lost to Kennedy and Johnson, 303 electoral votes to 219. The Democratic plurality was a thin 112-803 out of more than 68 million votes cast.

In that election, Nixon carried 26 states, Kennedy took 23, and Virginia Sen. Harry F. Byrd, a Democrat, received the Mississippi vote in the electoral college.

Having come within a proverbial hair's breadth of winning the presidency in 1960, Nixon was looked upon as the logical man to represent the party in 1964.

However, ferment had been at work in the Republican party for many years in at least two areas. To gain the nomination, Eisenhower had to defeat Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft, first a presidential hopeful in 1940, and the leader of Republican conservatives.

Conservative elements that had backed Taft in 1952 continued to stoke their own hearths. Other people, not particularly happy with Nixon, kept up their fighting fettle by sniping and scrimmaging where they could.

In 1956, Stassen launched a short but interesting attempt to have Nixon dropped from the ticket. The drive fizzled and angered some Republicans.

The revolt against Nixon was a little larger in 1960. In 1959, Rockefeller toured seven states to see what his chances would be in 1960. They didn't seem to be good, and so in December he withdrew from the race.

But he nonetheless helped write an agreement of 14 points covering GOP policy matters with Nixon the following summer. Some people claimed he dictated the 14 points to Nixon. After losing the 1960 race, Nixon returned to his home state of California to practice law — for the first time since he was elected to the House of Representatives in 1946. At this time he still looked like the man to beat for the nomination in 1964, although he let off steam by accusing the newspapers of being responsible for his defeat.

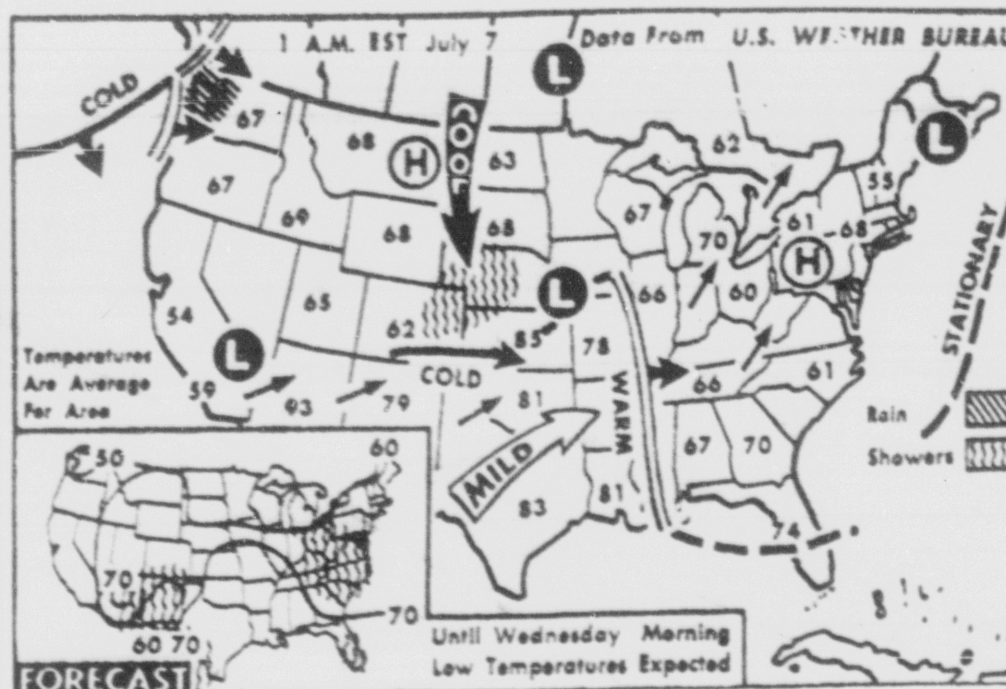

Then in 1962, he decided to take a crack at being governor of California. He won GOP nomination after a fight with right-wing elements of his party and many people thought he would win the governorship and thus put himself in a dominant position for 1964.

He had always been a good vote getter as a congressman and a senator, and had taken his state in a close count in the campaign against Kennedy despite the fact that California had more Democrats registered than Republicans.

But incumbent Democrat Edmund D. Brown whipped Nixon by a good margin in the general election. Nixon then moved to New York, to join a law firm and announce that he was not a candidate for the presidency but could be drafted.

By mid-1963, everyone figured that the race for the GOP nomination would be wide open, and that it turned out to be, regardless of how the delegate count stands as of today.

Agreement
Suit Begins in District Court

The hearing of a breach of agreement suit brought by E. M. Pinello, 3001 N. Cascade Ave., against John H. and Elvora V. Straus, Mesa Springs Ranch, 3100 N. Chestnut St., started in District Court this morning with Judge William M. Calvert presiding.

Pinello claims that Straus gave him written authorization July 25, 1953, to sell gravel from the ranch to the City of Colorado Springs at 10 per cent commission.

In 1954 the plaintiff alleges Straus verbally authorized him to sell gravel to El Paso County on the same terms. Since then the city has been buying gravel regularly. In accordance with the 10 per cent agreement, says Pinello, Straus paid him approximately $3,400 from 1954 to 1960 and then breached the agreement by stopping payments.

The complaint also states that Straus sold more gravel than that for which Pinello received a commission during those years. He is requesting $15,000 less the amount of commission the court determines had already been paid.

The first happened at the Kwik Shake Drive In, 385 Main St. where Richard Duval, 110 Harvard St. had parked his motor scooter. He was away from it for about 40 minutes and when he returned found that rear tail light lens and bulb had been stolen.

Mrs. John Deutsch, 127 Judson St. reported the second incident. According to Deputy Sheriff Charles King, the Deutsch family went up into the mountains June 28 and left the garage door unlocked. When they returned a few hours later they found a $40 wall clock had been taken.

Miss Ramsell, Mrs. Gladys Morath and Mrs. Max Morath and children spent several days in Boston and Cambridge. Mrs. Morath is currently appearing at the Village Vanguard in New York City.

DEAR ABBY: Please save my sanity and tell me if I am wrong. I refused our 17-year-old son permission to invite his 16-year-old girl friend along on our family vacation to the New York World's Fair. (We live in Colorado.)

There seems to be a new fad taking root these days. Parents are trying to "prove" to their teen-aged children that they "trust" them, so they are letting them invite their steadies on family trips. Our son claims that everybody else is doing it and now he is shame-faced because his girl has already obtained her parents' approval, and I won't let him ask her. I would like your opinion of this whole idea. —NOT THAT MODERN

DEAR NOT: Picnics and one-day family outings are one thing, but family vacations are for families. I think your judgment was sound. Don't back down. Of all the weak-kneed reasons to do something, that old stand-by "everybody else is doing it" is by far the poorest.

DEAR ABBY: A socially prominent lady in this town is forever handing out those "Y'aw'll come up and see me sometime" invitations which, of course, don't mean a thing. But what about the propriety of her ringing up my husband at his office and asking if "Y'aw'll" will come to dinner? Our home telephone number is in the book, but she has never called me. My husband says, "Oh, what's the difference?" I would appreciate it if you would please tell him (in your column) what the difference is. He thinks I'm jealous because she's a fun-loving, middle-aged widow and not too bad looking. —BATON ROUGE

DEAR BATON: The "difference" is a matter of etiquette. Dinner invitations are properly extended to the wife. Tell your husband that the next time the "socially prominent lady" calls his office with a "Y'aw'll come

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

What Are the Rights Of the Mother?

In New Jersey, recently, a 29-year-old woman, member of a Jehovah's Witness group, refused to accept a blood transfusion on religious grounds. The woman, Mrs. Stuart Anderson, was about to deliver a child by premature Caesarian section, and was suffering from internal bleeding. Hospital authorities, wishing to provide a transfusion, and blocked by the woman's insistence that such practice was against her religious position, contacted the New Jersey supreme court in an effort to ascertain "the rights of the unborn child."

Chief Justice Joseph Weintraub ordered a special guardian to be appointed for the child and then ordered the guardian to demand the transfusion. Weintraub said that he had no difficulty in making his decision.

Thus, during the delivery of the infant a pint of blood was given and both mother and child are reported doing well. The child was a 3½-pound boy and has been named Mitchell.

These are the physical facts of the case. And we presume that most persons, confronted with what appears to be the typical Hollywood ending in which problems are solved and harmony appears to reign, will smile and nod happily, certain that justice and right have triumphed once again. We are not so sure.

Certainly, the child had a right to live if it could. But we should understand that a right is not a guarantee. A person may have a right to live and at the same time suffer from an incurable disease. Where, then, is his right?

A right is fairly intangible and a concept having some pretty elusive characteristics. But one thing that should be seen is that if such things as rights exist, then there cannot be such a thing as rights that are in contradiction. If the child has a right to live, would it necessarily follow that the mother would have no right to live in order that her child be born?

Let us examine the situation. The mother has a religious point of view. We do not happen to share it. From the standpoint of the medical aid available to her, we think she was inexplicably foolish not to want a blood transfusion when one was available for her. But we will contend that however foolish we happen to think her religious point of view, she has a right to any religious view she wishes to have. And if that view holds transfusions in abhorrence, then the mother, an adult and capable of making choices with full responsibility for her conduct, has a right to reject a transfusion, if the heavens fall.

What if this means that her child will not live? This cannot be helped. The child, being unborn, is in no position to make a choice and to be responsible for the choice that it makes. But the mother is. And being a mother is a great deal more than the relatively brief act of bearing the child. The things that give meaning to life relate to the principles and beliefs one holds. Be they right or wrong, they are personal.

The mother, being an adult, is in a position of making a binding choice that will affect her life and the lives of others associated with her. If she chooses incorrectly, then the burden of that choice will always be upon her. But if we permit her to choose, even incorrectly, then we can have a moral and a responsible society in which each person can and must carry the full burden of responsibility for all that he does.

But now comes the court. And if it appears that the mother and the child may have a conflict in rights, at least the matter is clear. They are involved. They are personally, deeply, intimately wrapped up in the problem. Where does the court get the right to intervene in such a personal relationship? Is the mother in court, accused of wrong doing? Is there an action at law? Not at all. The court is

Cooperation With Car Thieves

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

Every so often I read an item which makes me wonder if the author only recently arrived from outer space and this has been another one of those days. After advising me that the general public, whatever that may be, is apathetic about car theft, the writer suggests that driver's licenses and auto registrations should not be carried in the glove compartments of cars. I agree that it's silly to carry driver's licenses in glove compartments but in many states it is less than lawful to carry registration certificates in glove compartments or any other place except in plain sight of anybody who wishes to take a peek. As a matter of fact, I have mentioned this little gem a time or three.

If your state government does not demand that you carry your auto registration in plain sight, don't mention it to any of your state legislators or the situation may be changed. I've thought about this same idea in connection with a variety of business licenses and other nuisances dreamed up by lawmakers who demand that such unbecomingly evidences of subservience to governmental tyranny be exhibited for all to read. During the many years I moved around from place to place looking for customers, I always looked for licenses in hopes of finding the name of the proprietor when his name was unknown to me, and I feel quite certain that a criminally bent expert thought of the idea long before it occurred to me.

The same item advised me that I should always try to park my car in well lighted areas which may at the same time be crowded because thieves are shy of crowds and lights. The author also mentioned that police are more likely to patrol such areas instead of more isolated locations. Now, if the author is correct, the police should be more concerned with unlighted and remote areas but the advice suggests that police must frequently patrol the areas where they are needed the least and maybe that's something to think about.

In my continuing search for information about criminality, I have recently received information from the publisher of the Lima, Ohio, News, Mr. E. Roy Smith, and I am appreciative. Among other interesting tidbits, I find that among fifty persons arrested for auto theft, only four were older than 21 and that only one female was arrested for that particular crime. Thirty-nine offenders arrested for auto theft were 17 years of age or younger and I dare to suggest that auto-thieves 17 and younger indicate a high rate of parental irresponsibility. Now take a look at this. Among the 64 persons arrested for burglary, 19 were under 15, and 40 were 19 or younger, and here we have more evidence of parental irresponsibility. What can be expected but irresponsibility when so many people are so extra busy trying to figure out ways and means to get something for nothing?

Speaking of larceny, out of a total of 138 arrested for larceny, 94 were under 21, and 41 were less than 15 years of age, and I find myself inclined to suspect that the parents of those youngsters didn't spend much time teaching their children respect for the property of others. There is, of course, a bit of a problem involved in teaching youngsters to have respect for the property of others while those others are being compelled to pay for the education of children for whom they are in no way responsible and for whose private property government exhibits no respect, and the problem is identical in every socialist country.

Finally, I want to call your attention to another set of figures. Out of 1,500 reports, 1,325 reports were NOT cleared by arrests and I will not be surprised if I eventually discover that these figures indicate a rather high level of efficiency among government-owned and controlled forces of police, and if you continue to rest secure in your faith of police protection, happy dreams. To be explicit, I would certainly consider the chief of police in the areas involved in these reports as a candidate for an executive position in a private enterprise system of protection. Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question No. 536: "Should an individual do what he likes to do or what he ought to do in order to improve the well-being of mankind on this earth?"

Answer: The real problem is to get people to like to do what they ought to do if they are interested in a life that gets more interesting with age. If they are seeking transitory happiness or pleasure then happiness will flee from them. Happiness cannot be found. Happiness is a by-product of action in attempting to improve one's own well-being and in attempting to be useful to others. One cannot improve his own well-being without serving others.

Most of our trouble comes from trying to improve the understanding of others rather than trying to improve our own understanding.

The best way to assist others is by example. Each man has to make his own decision and make up his own mind. Most of us are imitative animals and we will be better off if we follow the man who disciplines himself and takes his whole life into consideration when he determines what he ought to do.

We should try to improve ourselves and follow what the Hindu proverb says, "There is nothing noble in being superior to some other man. The true nobility is being superior to your previous self." Then happiness will be the by-product. It will be evidence that one is doing what he ought to do instead of doing what he temporarily likes to do.

Questions are limited to general human relations, questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

corporate is likely to be among the large corporations. We are enormously pleased with Mr. Blough's vision and ability. If more people can be brought to see the advantages of a world market and world corporations, we can advance toward a higher standard of living without the recurrent wars of war.

FRIENDLIER

To the Editor: Only found very few natives of Colorado who are somewhat friendly. What is wrong with this town's city folk? They are independent, all for themselves, and not helping others. Spoke with a great many and they in turn got insulted when I said, "Good morning, a lovely day we are having." I got slapped in the face, just like a bumbee sting on my cheek. The old lady was not lady-like. The southern and other western states are more friendly. If you know them or not, you are never lonesome.

To be or not to be, which is the question. A good healthy smile does really help to cheer up the blues. No one should be selfish. Lend a helping hand when in distress, whatever his or her trouble may be.

PREJUDICE

To the Editor: "Whether the bodies of the three 'missing students' are found in Mississippi or the men are discovered alive, does not alter the fact that the 'federal government' (or a reasonable facsimile) assumed that, because a burned-out car was discovered, the men were the victims of foul play, without any evidence to support the theory, and flooded the country-side with troops. That is to say that legally every white man in Mississippi was judged guilty without ever having entered a court room. Prejudice? This would seem to be a glaring example of real prejudice, if prejudice was ever a real issue in the minds of the LEADERS of this invasion of Mississippi.

Now that Lodge has returned from Viet Nam, perhaps they can send him as the government's ambassador to Mississippi, since we seem to be at war with that state. I shouldn't be surprised to discover that more troops have been sent there, as a personal guard, than have been sent to South Viet Nam against an enemy. Of course, he might have difficulty in speaking their language, but with his training, he would, of course, respect the established government, whether he agreed with it or not, even as he has been accustomed to do in "foreign" countries, this being the policy of our State Department. It might be a bit difficult for him to get used to our domestic policy of supporting and protecting trained saboteurs and guerrilla fighters, after having been used to shooting at them in Viet Nam.

SLAVES TO HABITS To the Editor: My letter is in regard to the current issue on smoking. I read last night in your newspaper about a scientist who doubted that warning people of smoking hazards in advertisements, etc., would help much on making them think twice before they take another puff. I don't think truer words have ever been spoken or printed for that matter. Why? Because everybody thinks, "Sure, it could happen to the guy next door but it won't happen to me." That is "everybody" has that train of thought until their doctor tells them, "You've got lung cancer." It could be fatal and it could be controllable, but the point is it all could have been avoided.

Really, the issue is quite simple. It is a matter of choosing whether you want that next puff or you want two healthy lungs. Habitual smoking is just as much an obsession for the smoker as the next drink is for the alcoholic, as the next shot of heroin is for the dope addict. I am content that although the smoking habit may be accepted it is on the same level as the dope habit and the alcoholic habit, they're all obsessions.

I personally don't see why people want to smoke in the first place. I've sampled some cigarettes, I once smoked a pipe and I even lit up a cigar and smoked it for about 30 seconds before I gagged. I see nothing particularly fulfilling about smoking, and I have yet to see the great gifts and rewards for lighting up that cigarette.

The sorry thing about it is that once you are habitually smoking it is virtually impossible to give up the habit unless you have iron will power and few possess such a quality. The thing is not to smoke in the first place, it is a big waste of money and it gets you nowhere except maybe to your grave a few years sooner.

If that's where you want to go, you haven't picked a quick way but you have picked a sure way. As an intelligent human being you should not become a slave to that match and cigarette.

Why It Couldn't Be Stopped

By HARRY BROWNE

By the time you read this, the "civil rights" bill will have been signed by the President. Probably no other piece of legislation in the history of America has met such determined opposition. Literally thousands of newspapers and millions of letters to Congress have objected to it.

And yet the bill has been given overwhelming approval by both houses of Congress.

Why? Why -- with such opposition -- has this bill still managed to be voted into law?

The answer lies with us -- every American who has been a party to fifty years of creeping socialism.

We have stood by and watched -- even approved -- as the federal government has built the largest political empire in the history of the world. We have gleefully accepted subsidies from the public trough -- and criminally accepted the idea that the government can tax others to provide benefits to us.

And now the chickens are coming home to roost!

Now we suddenly awake to find that the bureaucracy in Washington has a "slush fund" of $50 billion a year (outside of the money needed for defense) with which to bribe and threaten congressmen. And that slush fund is being used to force through passage of legislation like the "civil rights" bill -- a bill whose chief attribute is the stealing from each one of us of man's human right to run his own life as he sees fit.

Are we satisfied with the monster we have created?

Should there be any doubt in our minds as to why such an unholy bill is now inevitable?

Dignity Is of the Spirit

By RUFUS L. PORTER

I have heard too many disgruntled people complaining about too many things in my lifetime. And some of the more irksome ones are those who complain bitterly that their work is "beneath their dignity." I have known men, before the days of unemployment "insurance," who preferred to let their kids go hungry rather than take the work offered them because it "wasn't dignified."

These misinformed or maladjusted people do not seem to realize that the person brings dignity to his work, whatever it may be. Dignity lies, not in the work, but in the worker. And a conscientious worker can bring dignity to even the lowliest job.

Dignity is of the spirit. It is not a material thing to be found in a "better job." Webster gives four definitions for the word dignity. The first one is "elevation of rank," and that is what many seem to expect from their jobs. But if one has true dignity, he can elevate the rank of any sort of endeavor.

The other three definitions point the way to gain an elevation of rank, and that is by earning it; for the other three are degree of excellence: moral worth; qualities suited to command respect and reverence.

Now, no job, however high, can possibly have these attributes, since they belong to people. But people are not born with them. They are acquired characteristics. They can be cultivated and, if cultivated, they can add dignity like a cloak to their wearer. Dignity can bring about an elevation of rank to a worthy person, but an elevation of rank does not bring dignity to the unworthy. I have known "dignitaries" who possessed little or no dignity.

Dignity can be found among savages (the American Indian was noted for it), in slums, on skid row, in hobo jungles, but rarely is it found among the avid seekers of rank or status for their own sakes. So, social climbers believe that if they can worm their way into "society" it will bring them dignity. The truth is that if they do not possess dignity from the start, they will never be admitted into the inner sanctums. But of course, if they had any dignity, they wouldn't be climbing. I hope I make myself clear.

The same is true of jobs. If a man considers his present task beneath his dignity, he does not have enough of that elusive virtue to deserve promotion, or "elevation of rank." Many of them make it by apple polishing and boot licking, but dignity is never of their rewards.

I believe the best definition of dignity is "moral worth." Seek and find this characteristic and the others will automatically become yours. This was all brought on by a remark heard the other day, which was once too often.

Our Western Tanagers are back. We saw the male, decorated out in his brilliant plumage doing his mating song and dance on the edge of the birch feeder this morning outside of kitchen windows. The female was so entranced that she was off with him. It was quite a show and well worth the price of a little birdseed and a few table scraps -- first time we ever saw anything like it. Also the mourning (turtle) doves are back for the season. The robin arrived a long time ago.

Adam Lyre says (What's doing in this column?): E. Simmons must have been sleeping on one of his "dream" mattresses when he dreamed the idea of a cog road up Pike Peak. No wonder he named one of his mattresses "easy rest" -- look at his initials.

Some Truths About Enterprise

By FRED G. CLARK

That two and two make four. That two taken from two leaves nothing. That we cannot divide more than we produce. That when some get more than they produce, others get less.

That production, and production alone, is the source of purchasing power. That mass production requires mass customers.

That increasing the number of receipts (money) for products to workers who have not correspondingly increased their productivity increases selling prices and makes it harder for other workers to be their customers.

That because the customer is the ultimate employer, prices which drive away customers are a direct cause of unemployment.

That when the government continues to spend more than it receives, it places an extra burden on present and future generations.

That such action is not only morally wrong, but is harmful to national security and prosperity.

That "economic growth" depends entirely upon more productivity which comes only through more and better tools. That anything that slows or obstructs the production of more goods, such as artificially shortened working hours, inadequate depreciation allowance, tax laws that remove the incentive to production, or any practice which opens the door to inflation, is detrimental to national growth.

LIBERTY

If the true spark of religion and civil liberty be kindled, will burn. Human agency cannot extinguish it. Like the earth's central fire, it may be smothered for a time, but at some time or other, in some place or other, the volcano will break out and flame up to heaven.

American Soldier Shot on Quiet Street in Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—An American soldier was shot in a quiet side street of Communist-ruled East Berlin Sunday night and found by a passing U.S. officer. The wounded soldier was brought back to West Berlin and placed in a military hospital where his condition was described as satisfactory.

A U.S. Army spokesman said the soldier apparently was wounded in an attempt to rob him but he refused to elaborate. The victim's name was withheld here pending notification of his next of kin, but in Oklahoma City, Mrs. Stanley Coppage said she received a telegram late Sunday night informing her that her son, Pfc. John M. Coppage, 19, had been seriously wounded in a shooting incident in East Berlin.

Coppage was stationed at Heilbronn, in West Germany, but wrote home last week that he planned a tour with an Army buddy.

LONDON (UPI)—Malaysian Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman will go to the United States following this week's Commonwealth prime ministers' conference to ask for aid in his country's dispute with Indonesia, authoritative sources said Monday.

He had been on a bus tour of East Berlin and missed his bus, authorities said. He began walking back to Checkpoint Charlie, the crossing point in the Berlin wall for Allied personnel. He was in uniform.

A close-to-home tour for
DENVER AND COLORADO SPRINGS

Take pictures in the wooded glens on your way to the Rockies

Up from the Foothills to the World's Highest Yacht Anchorage

On this 213-mile round trip you and your family will drive about as high as you can go by car anywhere in the world... you'll enjoy the "Great Lakes of the Rockies" ...and see many reminders of booming mining days.

(CLIP AND SAVE THIS TOUR)

HERE'S A ONE-DAY or weekend trip which every American should take once in his lifetime and every Colorado family at least once every summer. In the domain of lofty peaks called Rocky Mountain National Park you'll explore rugged gorges, alpine lakes and flowering meadows.

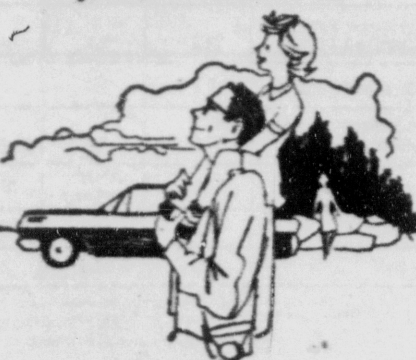

As you drive over the highroad, with time out for hiking and sight-seeing, you can share with your youngsters the pleasure of learning about wildlife, wildflowers, glaciers and the ways of nature. Your car will become the means of reaching the great classroom of the outdoors. Then across the park, you'll reach the highest yacht anchorage in the world, with plenty of opportunity for boating if that's your interest.

Take your time while you drive. The highroads are engineered for safety, but leisurely travel gets the most out of the sights en route. Start early if you're on a one-day trip. If you're on a weekend, there are plenty of accommodations, from campgrounds to resorts.

Start at the junction of West Colfax Avenue and Federal Boulevard in...

0m. DENVER. Drive north on Federal Boulevard (Route 1) to Westminster, then turn left on the Denver-Boulder Turnpike to...

27m. BOULDER, at the foot of the great Flatirons, rising above the city and the UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO campus. Turn north on Route 7 to Junction with Route 66.

43m. ST. VRAIN CANYON. Turn northwest, passing the red-stone quarries of Lyons, Steamboat Mountain and Little Elk Park, with the mighty peaks of the Front Range straight ahead.

63m. ESTES PARK. This is the eastern gateway to the Rocky Mountain National Park, a popular year-round resort surrounded by towering peaks. Take U.S. 34 and enter...

ROCKY MOUNTAIN NATIONAL PARK. Now you begin one of the most wonderful motoring experiences in America. TRAIL RIDGE ROAD climbs 4,700 feet on its winding course, then descends 4,000 feet to GRAND LAKE, at the western entrance. Dress warmly, while the air is light and dry, you are entering a cold-climate zone.

Stop at the overlooks to absorb the magnificence of the Park. Within its 260,000 acres are 65 peaks higher than 10,000 feet. From the DEER RIDGE observation tower you can see the whole central and eastern portions, dominated by LONGS PEAK, 14,256 feet, the highest mountain in the Park. From Rainbow Curve, the Mummy Range is visible to the north. Traveling on the gradual upward grade, you rise above timberline, looking down at the unforgettable spectacle of deep forested canyons, brilliant blue lakes and glaciers. The covering of fir, pine and spruce yields to barren rock and tundra, colored with high alpine wildflowers. Eleven miles of the trip are made above timberline with four miles above 12,000 feet. Stop near the summit to look down at ICEBERG LAKE with its perpetual glacial ice.

85m. FALL RIVER PASS. Don't rush your descent. You can stop for lunch at the Visitor Center here and take in the excellent displays in the Alpine Exhibit Room, part of the National Park Service that interprets features of the Park in a way visitors of all ages will enjoy. As you cross the Continental Divide at MILNER PASS (elevation 10,759 feet), park your car and walk the forest trail from Poudre Lake, where the flow of eastern and western waters divide. Then descend past TIMBER CREEK CAMPGROUND, through fertile meadows, pine and aspen forests, following the COLORADO RIVER.

111m. GRAND LAKE, the western entrance to the National Park. Grand Lake village, on the northern shore of the lake, is a resort town in a beautiful mountain setting, surrounded by the peaks of the National Park. You may want to join one of the free lectures or field trips sponsored by the Park Service during the summer. Grand Lake itself is a major center for outdoor sports, noted for its fine trout fishing, boating, water skiing. It is the largest natural body of water in Colorado and the highest yacht anchorage in the world, the site of the annual regatta for the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy. Continue south on U.S. 34 to...

118m. LAKE GRANBY, together with nearby SHADOW MOUNTAIN LAKE, were formed by the Colorado-Big Thompson Project to divert water under the Continental Divide from the western to eastern slope for electric power and irrigation. Guided tours through the Granby Pumping Plant describe the entire project and the operation of the 13-mile-long Alva B. Adams tunnel. Both lakes offer excellent fishing. You may rent a rowboat at any of many privately owned docks along the shorelines. Sight-seeing cruises begin from several docks. There are also campgrounds and picnic tables within the 20-square-mile Shadow Mountain National Recreation Area at junction with U.S. 40. Turn left to the town of GRANBY, then through ranching and logging country. The road follows the Fraser River past the Winter Park Ski Area, winding up and over the Continental Divide at 11,314-foot-high BERTHOUD

PASS, then down the eastern slope along Clear Creek, bordered by dark green forests.

180m. IDAHO SPRINGS, where gold dust was first panned in 1859. Even today some mines in the vicinity will yield uranium, tungsten, molybdenum, gold and lead. There are many reminders of the past, including Locomotive No. 60, followed by tender and day coach, now standing in peaceful retirement beside the old depot. They made their first narrow-gauge run in 1886. You may want to show your youngsters a real mining classroom, the EDGAR MINE, on U.S. 6 and 40, used by the Colorado School of Mines.

Continue east through the Rocky Mountain foothills through the Denver mountain park system, heading toward the valley of the South Platte River, with the towering snowy peaks you've explored still visible in the north. Just follow U.S. 6 back to Denver.

213m. DENVER. Your family has traveled to the rooftop of the Rockies, across the Continental Divide and back, a vacation trip many have traveled thousands of miles to experience —but which you have enjoyed in your one-day or week-end vacation-in-miniature.

This series of tour suggestions is published on behalf of your local service station dealer by the American Petroleum Institute—to remind you that you see America best by car.

Reporter Aids Rescue Of Nine Children

ADAMS CITY, Colo. (AP)—A newspaper reporter helped rescue nine children and four adults trapped in a burning car north of Denver Sunday.

State patrolman E. B. Lane said a car driven by Mrs. Dixie Hansen of Pierce, Colo., burst into flames after the car's rear tires appeared to blow out.

In a car 300 yards behind, reporter Wiley Smith of the Greeley (Colo.) Tribune stopped and ran to the burning car. He and Mrs. Hansen managed to pull the nine children and four other adults to safety.

"Relax! It cost only a little more than the usual wild extravagant price I pay."

New Jersey Delegates To Support Scranton

NEWARK (UPI)—Two New Jersey delegates to the Republican National Convention announced here their support for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton for the presidential nomination.

Robert W. Kean of Livingston and Leslie Blau of Orange sided with Sen. Clifford P. Case and Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen in supporting Scranton, making a total of four New Jersey delegates announced for the Pennsylvania.

The president of the New Jersey Committee for Goldwater, Mark Anton, has said nine delegates, including himself, support Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater for the nomination. The 40-vote New Jersey delegation, however, remains officially uncommitted.

TRAGIC COINCIDENCE
HONOLULU (UPI)—A 23-year-old soldier drowned here over the weekend while Army authorities were trying to locate him to tell him his mother had just died on the mainland.

The soldier, Pfc. Joseph C. Howard, drowned Saturday while skin-diving with friends at Waianae Beach. The Army had received word earlier that day that Howard's mother had died in Philadelphia, Pa.

An Army spokesman said Howard apparently succumbed to over-exertion while swimming. He had been assigned to the 25th Division at Schofield Barracks.

Carew Raps Inventory Tax At Demo. Meet

A Colorado Springs Democrat, William Lamont Carew, told Young Democrats Sunday that big corporations are building their plants elsewhere because they can't afford to pay the Colorado inventory tax.

Carew, a candidate for the state House of Representatives, addressed about 170 persons attending the annual picnic at Black Forest.

He predicted that "unless business is allowed to come into the state on a fair tax basis, jobs which might have been opened to the public will never materialize, and we can never benefit from the manufacturing dollars which might have been."

In explaining the tax, Carew said that it was instituted about six years ago when new revenue was needed.

"The need for money was real," he told the group, "but the method of getting it was shortsighted and has brought a downward pressure on the entire business economy."

He said that the tax is levied on all inventory which passes through a businessman's hands during the year. He stated that the tax amounts to $559.70 for every $10,000 worth of assessed inventory.

Carew reported that Gates Rubber, headquartered in Denver, has turned thumbs down on new construction in Colorado. He said that company has stated its decision to build plants outside the state.

"Companies of this size have enormous inventory totals," Carew stated, "and the inventory tax amounts to tremendous sums of money."

He said that, simply stated, the inventory tax actually prices business out of Colorado's economy market.

Carew said that the inventory tax and its removal will be his first concern if he is elected in November.

Clergyman Says Policy Makers Ban Winning Wars

By RAY HERST
Gazette-Telegraph Staff Writer

U. S. troops who died on the battlefields of Korea, Viet Nam and Laos were "murdered by the former of our foreign policy," a leading conservative clergyman charged here Monday.

Dr. Wilford O. H. Garman, president of the Associated Gospel Churches and a military expert, said that the policy makers have placed a ban on winning wars that this country has been engaged in. He said the policies are designed to lead to a merger with Soviet Russia and one-world government.

The Rev. Dr. Garman, who is on the faculty of the Christian Crusade Anti-Communist Youth University at Manitou Springs, has served in an advisory capacity to the Joint Chiefs of Staff and to the State Department. He has toured military installations with the chiefs and for the state department.

From 1953 to 1955, he was a participant in global strategy talks at the U. S. Naval War College.

"We're tops in military preparedness," Dr. Garman, who still makes periodic tours of U. S. bases to study weapons and conditions, said.

"There never has been a time that we couldn't wipe Russia off the face of the earth when we wanted to. There is no missile gap, we are in the lead," he said.

"The thing that bothers me is the no-win policy of the State Department. Our men are no longer permitted to win wars," the former college president said.

He said that the U. S. was inviting disaster by implementing this policy and by placing "all our eggs in one basket" by depending entirely on missiles to do the job of first-strike weapons.

"I'm quite in agreement with the position of Gen. MacArthur's aide who said that our bluff," he said. He said we should have made no concessions since we had the bomb and were in the superior position.

Dr. Garman, who participated as an observer and photographer during the Berlin Airlift, said that he told a top level conference on the Berlin crisis that we should bomb Moscow.

"I recommended that we drop the bomb on Moscow during the Berlin crises and order Bloody Joe to get his people out of the occupied capitals, but they didn't accept my advice," he said. "It would have been easy then."

The minister-educator, who has been active in the fight against communism since 1939 and who makes his home in Pittsburgh, Pa., charged that the military leaders no longer control the armed forces. He said the Defense Secretary Robert MacNamara has complete control and that this power should be returned to the military — "They know more about it than he does."

Dr. Garman will remain at the University until July 21. He lectures daily.

Three cases of malicious mischief were reported to the sheriff's office Monday.

The first happened at the Wolf Ranch, Black Forest. Someone cut a section of the wire fence which is near the lane which leads to the Black Forest Saddle Club.

The rock also struck three-year old Eddie Hargrove who was in the vehicle cutting him on the head. Damage to the glass amounted to $25.

The final incident was reported by William Lollich, 114 Dartmouth St. who said someone had shot a hole through his living room window with a BB gun causing $30 damage.

Perks Up Humdrums

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Jan Craig perked up the summer humdrums for the distaff side of bowlers when she cracked the kingpins for a 676 scratch series, which is the highest three-game set recorded by the girls this summer season.

Two bowlers at Bowl-Mor Lanes took the limelight in the "weaker sex" set with a sizzling 693 scratch series each. Larry Berridge, one of the better young bowlers in this area, and Mel Gray each registered a 693 set paced by a 256 single high game.

Mrs. Craig credits the high series set to her new-found success with a new bowling ball. Jan carted a 162 average in the last regular bowling season but this summer she has upped her average by eight pins.

This was Jan's fourth "600" series and her previous high set was a 636. She bowled games of 220-256-200 to post the 676 series at Ute Lanes.

AREA SCORES

Berridge and Gray were tops last week with 693 series each at Bowl-Mor Lanes. Mrs. Craig out-paced the ladies with her 676 set. Mike Oliver paced the junior bowlers when he posted a 245 single tally at Ute Lanes. Don Atwell took single game honors for the men with a 279 effort while posting a 661 set at Bowl-Mor Lanes. Hedy Hays fired a 238 game for the highest recorded for the girls. Other scores: Don Scott, 654; Jack Williams, 253; Chris Hughes 609; and Ray Utely, 246.

Bears Win PCL Game; Keep Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Denver's Bears squeaked into first place in the tight Eastern Division race in the Pacific Coast League Monday night by the thin margins of one run and three percentage points.

Cecil Butler's three-hit pitching gave the Bears a 2-1 victory over Oklahoma City and moved Denver to the top of the heap with a .554 percentage.

Arkansas' game with Indianapolis was rained out and the Travelers stayed at .551, one half game behind Denver. Oklahoma City is third with .537, just 1½ games off the pace.

Two streaks stayed intact when San Diego edged Hawaii 4-3. It was the fifth win in a row for the Padres and the eight straight loss for the tail-end Islanders.

Hawaii took a 3-0 lead on Cal Emery's 15th homer and Jack Hiatt's 13th round-tripper but San Diego rallied to give Dan Neville his ninth win of the season. Tony Perez belted homer No. 25 for the winners in the fourth inning.

Portland protected its 3½ game lead in the Western Division with a 4-1 victory over Seattle. The Beavers were off and running on Tony Curry's two-run homer in the first inning. Reliever Jack Curtis picked up his fifth victory by pitching seven strong innings after starter Jim Weaver became ill. Weaver had allowed one hit in two innings.

Dallas lost its 57th game of the season, 5-4 to Salt Lake City by having the potential tying run thrown out at the plate to end the game. Ron Hogg, trying to score from second on a throwing error, was caught for the final out.

U.S. - Soviet Track Meet, July 26

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet men's track and field team that opposes the United States at Los Angeles July 25-26 will be stronger than the one that put up a strong battle against American trackmen here last year, according to Russian coach Gavril Korobkov.

But Korobkov squelched an anticipated broad jump duel between Russian world record holder Igor Ter-Ovanesyan and U.S. ace Ralph Boston Monday by disclosing that Ter-Ovanesyan will not make the trip.

Boston topped the Russian's world mark of 27 feet, 3¼ inches with a wind-aided leap of 27-5½ last Friday at the U.S. Olympic Trials.

Korobkov told the official Soviet news agency, Tass, that Ter-Ovanesyan was sick. He missed the Znamensky Brothers Memorial Meet in Moscow last weekend.

The Russian pilot said the Moscow meet showed better results than the 1963 meet.

"This does not mean, however, that we are bound to repeat last year's success," he said. "We are clearly aware of the fact that in Los Angeles we shall meet a team of much higher class than we received in Moscow."

"There is going to be a close struggle," Korobkov said he considers the Russian distance runners—1,500 to 10,000 meters—superior to those of any other nation, pointing out that Pyotr Bolotnikov, Olympic champion at 10,000 meters in 1960, could do no better than sixth in the Memorial meet event won by countryman Nikolai Dutov.

"Rein Telp (800 meters), Vasily Savinkov (1,500 meters), Dutov, Kestutis Orentas and Marti Wilt (long distances) are runners on whom we count very much in the Olympic year," he said.

"There is less progress in the short distance (from 100 to 800 meters). But the Soviet team will be very able in the 400-meter relay race, and it appears that we will have a strong team in the 1,600-meter relay for the first time."

In the 1963 meet in Moscow, American men defeated the Russians 119-114 while the Russian women trounced the American women 75-28.

Boston Skipper Expects Sox To Fair Better

BOSTON (AP)—Carl Yastrzemski and Bill Monbouquette are two reasons the Red Sox will be better in the second half of the season, according to Manager Johnny Pesky.

The Boston skipper made his remarks today while three of his players—Dick Radatz, Eddie Bressoud and Frank Malone—were performing in the All-Star game in New York.

At the halfway mark, the Sox are in sixth place, 1½ games off Baltimore's pace.

"We're a better team than our record indicates," Pesky said. "We're as good as a lot of teams ahead of us and I'm confident we'll prove it in the second half."

"On the whole we've played exciting baseball, winning a lot of games in the late innings—the sign of a good ball club."

"It's the fighting type team that's not so prone to a prolonged slump."

"Two good reasons we'll be better are Yastrzemski and Monbouquette."

"Yaz is really starting to come and I think he'll hit .320. It wasn't so long ago he was hitting .230."

"Monbo also seems to be coming along in his last three games."

"I've recovered my swing," says Yastrzemski, the defending league batting champion who had a 619 week at the plate and has reached .287.

"I'm feeling confident again."

"Generally you dread hot July and August and keep thinking the season never will end. But I've just begun to hit the way I feel I can."

"The second half is full of promise, and I just hope time doesn't run out on me."

"I still want to repeat as the leading hitter in the league."

Former catcher Clint Courtney coaches the San Antonio Bullets under Manager Lo Fitzgerald.

Amperex Ties Mark At Pueblo

PUEBLO — Westy Whizzer, juvenile star of the recently ended racing meet at Raynham Greyhound Park in the Boston area of Massachusetts, will make his debut at Pueblo Greyhound Park in Tuesday night's featured ninth race.

After the question of whether he needs more time to become accustomed to the high Colorado altitude may not be answered until the race is run, he was not impressive in his two schooling efforts, mostly against other Raynham arrivals, running third and fifth.

Winner of the $7,500 Raynham Juvenile Stake on May 23, Westy Whizzer takes on a field including Cecil W. Wilson's Ski Lady and Melvin C. Hughes' Irish Dino in his Pueblo debut.

Joe Mamino's Amperex tied the track record by touring the 516 mile in 30.81 seconds in winning the featured race Monday night.

Omer Rawlings' Atchley was second a length behind. The record was set Aug. 3, 1963, by George Murphy's TV Award.

Harada, Laguna Win Bouts; Japanese Fighter Injured

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bantamweight title contender Masahiko (Fighting) Harada of Japan went on the shelf Tuesday for an indefinite time because of a severe eye cut while negotiations continued — without Harada—for champion Eder Jofre of Brazil to meet Mexico's Jesus Pimentel here in August.

Harada, whose left eyelid was slashed open in his winning 10-round fight over Rey Asis of Manila Monday night, had six stitches taken to close the cut, and a spokesman said he would be inactive for several months.

In a companion 10-rounder, Ismael Laguna, the No. 1 featherweight challenger from Panama, scored an eighth-round knockout over veteran Kid Anahuac of Mexico City.

Jofre, just arrived in town, witnessed the action before a sparse turnout estimated at 1,500 in the huge Sports Arena. Jofre said it was a good fight but added that he thinks Pimentel is a better fighter than Harada.

Abraham Katzenelson, Jofre's manager, and the fighter were accompanied to the card by promoter George Parnassus of the Olympic Boxing Club.

Their appearance together was significant because the bouts were promoted by the rival Civic Boxing Enterprises, Inc., which had hoped to have Pimentel meet Harada and have the winner go against Jofre.

Parnassus said he would ask the California Athletic Commission to hold a special meeting to clear up the confusion over who fights whom.

Harada bled profusely from the eye cut from the second round on—he got it from a sharp right hand blow—and several times it appeared the fight might be stopped.

The decision was unanimous—and lopsided—although most of the rounds were close.

The 21-year-old Laguna said he would continue efforts to get a featherweight title fight with Sugar Ramos. He was unmarked, and while he was never able to floor the 31-year-old Anahuac, he was too fast and too young for the Mexican.

Anahuac, who has fought Ramos, said Laguna had fast hands and feet but he predicted Ramos would knock him out.

Harada, Laguna Win Bouts; Japanese Fighter Injured

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bantamweight title contender Masahiko (Fighting) Harada of Japan went on the shelf Tuesday for an indefinite time because of a severe eye cut while negotiations continued — without Harada—for champion Eder Jofre of Brazil to meet Mexico's Jesus Pimentel here in August.

Harada, whose left eyelid was slashed open in his winning 10-round fight over Rey Asis of Manila Monday night, had six stitches taken to close the cut, and a spokesman said he would be inactive for several months.

In a companion 10-rounder, Ismael Laguna, the No. 1 featherweight challenger from Panama, scored an eighth-round knockout over veteran Kid Anahuac of Mexico City.

Jofre, just arrived in town, witnessed the action before a sparse turnout estimated at 1,500 in the huge Sports Arena. Jofre said it was a good fight but added that he thinks Pimentel is a better fighter than Harada.

Abraham Katzenelson, Jofre's manager, and the fighter were accompanied to the card by promoter George Parnassus of the Olympic Boxing Club.

Their appearance together was significant because the bouts were promoted by the rival Civic Boxing Enterprises, Inc., which had hoped to have Pimentel meet Harada and have the winner go against Jofre.

Parnassus said he would ask the California Athletic Commission to hold a special meeting to clear up the confusion over who fights whom.

Harada bled profusely from the eye cut from the second round on—he got it from a sharp right hand blow—and several times it appeared the fight might be stopped.

The decision was unanimous—and lopsided—although most of the rounds were close.

The 21-year-old Laguna said he would continue efforts to get a featherweight title fight with Sugar Ramos. He was unmarked, and while he was never able to floor the 31-year-old Anahuac, he was too fast and too young for the Mexican.

Anahuac, who has fought Ramos, said Laguna had fast hands and feet but he predicted Ramos would knock him out.

British Open Tourney To Start Wednesday

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Writer

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—They crowned a new king today for the 1964 British Open Golf Championship at the birthplace of the game.

He's a character known as the spectator.

Off the printing presses rolled enough tickets to accommodate 30,000 people to watch the 104th Open title play which starts Wednesday and endures 72 holes over the most impolite 6,926 yards of trouble in existence.

In 1873 Tom Kidd won the championship here from 25 competitors and a bibulous gallery of 50.

As late as 1949, Reg Whitcombe beat Harry Bradshaw of Ireland at Sandwich in a play-off which attracted exactly 20 spectators.

As the American challengers, led by Jack Nicklaus, Doug Sanders, Tony Lema and Doug Ford, and others arrived, the spectator fever hit the Old Course. Golf fans by the hundreds wandered around sporting their spectator tickets.

"The spectator is the king nowadays," said George Simms, press officer for the Open.

Simms, a golf writer in Britain for years, is by his very existence a sign of the times. The Royal and Ancient Club once permitted the press to come to the tradesmen's entrance to see something posted on the wall.

This currying the favor with the public has been adopted from the Americans.

Consequently, this time the playing golf spectator is being given new paths to walk alongside the nine holes out and nine holes back which distinguish the Old Course.

Parking lots have been created. A road was built to the turn so it is now possible to drive to the ninth green. Mounds were bulldozed at the second green, the third and fourth tees, the fifth and 13th greens and at the 14th and 17th greens. Stands have been erected at the first and third greens and at the 12th, 13th and 14th. A mobile score board was built.

Closed circuit television delivers the latest news.

They are charging spectators $4.20 for the entire week of golf until the last shot is fired Friday.

By American standards that's not very much. But you can play the Old Course without introduction since it is publicly owned by the town, for $1.40. And adjoining courses such as the "New," the "Eden" and the "Jubilee" are correspondingly cheaper to the point where a child is charged only 14 cents a round.

Amperex Ties Mark At Pueblo

PUEBLO — Westy Whizzer, juvenile star of the recently ended racing meet at Raynham Greyhound Park in the Boston area of Massachusetts, will make his debut at Pueblo Greyhound Park in Tuesday night's featured ninth race.

After the question of whether he needs more time to become accustomed to the high Colorado altitude may not be answered until the race is run, he was not impressive in his two schooling efforts, mostly against other Raynham arrivals, running third and fifth.

Winner of the $7,500 Raynham Juvenile Stake on May 23, Westy Whizzer takes on a field including Cecil W. Wilson's Ski Lady and Melvin C. Hughes' Irish Dino in his Pueblo debut.

Joe Mamino's Amperex tied the track record by touring the 516 mile in 30.81 seconds in winning the featured race Monday night.

Omer Rawlings' Atchley was second a length behind. The record was set Aug. 3, 1963, by George Murphy's TV Award.

'Clay-Patterson Bout Would Help the Game' -- Dempsey

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Dempsey recommended today that Cassius Clay and Floyd Patterson meet in the next heavyweight title fight — "for the all-around benefit of boxing" — at a time when the sport really needs a lift.

The 69-year-old Manassas Mauler said it could be another "bad mistake" for young Cassius to defend against 30-year-old Sonny Liston before Sonny has had a chance to prove against a lesser opponent that his injured left shoulder is completely healed.

"Muhammad Ali" Clay took the title from Liston at Miami Beach last Feb. 25 on a seventh round technical knockout when Sonny was unable to come out of his corner at the start of the seventh because of a "tear" in the biceps tendon of his left shoulder. At least that was the announcement then.

Dempsey, now beginning to gray a bit at the temples but still one of Broadway's top attractions as he dines near the big front window of his restaurant, emphasized that a title bout between dancing Clay and speedily aggressive Patterson would draw "top gate."

Patterson's surprisingly decisive victory over high contender Eddie Machen in Sweden Sunday night unquestionably made him the hottest heavyweight challenger. Jack explained, "I don't think anyone in boxing would disagree with me on that."

Dempsey — who started the million-dollar gates as heavyweight champion from July 4, 1919, to Sept. 23, 1926 — said he figured Clay and Patterson would draw "twice as much as Cassius and Sonny" because it's a fresh match between two able men with sharply contrasting ring styles and sharply contrasting views on the Black Muslims.

"It shapes up like a promoter's dream," said the square-shouldered man in the dark checked sports jacket who clared, "They're one of the evils of the sport today—some of these fellows who box a lot."

Is Dempsey a crusader now? "I wouldn't say that," he replied seriously. "But I am against anything that hurts boxing. I owe everything I have to it and I'm going all-out to help get federal control of the sport so we'll have nationwide, unified rules and their enforcement."

"I certainly am," he declared.

Bork's Weight Worries Everyone Except Bork

JULIETTE, Quebec (AP)—Everybody is worried about George Bork's weight except George Bork.

Bork is the young man who broke American collegiate passing records while playing quarterback for Northern Illinois the past four years, and is now the prize rookie quarterback for the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League.

Coach Jim Trimble, however, thinks Bork is too skinny at 179 pounds to take the poundings of the pros. He would like to see his rookie add 15 pounds or so to his six-foot frame.

"I know that the extra weight helps a quarterback absorb the pounding he takes on the rush, and makes him less prone to injury," Bork said none too happily Monday at the Alouette training camp here.

"I suppose, with the extra weight, I'd be able to throw stronger too."

"Well, I know all that and I'm trying to put on weight. Everybody seems to be worried about it, but I'm not really too concerned. I've been playing football for nine years, and I've had some success."

Bork's eyes lit up when someone recalled that Sam Etcheverry, the great Alouette quarterback of a few years ago, weighed only 174 pounds when he first reported to the club.

Bork, whether he fattens up or not, figures to provide Montreal with a pretty fair passing game once he learns to handle the rush. His favorite receiver at Northern Illinois, Hugh Robinson, who broke all the pass-catching marks on the end of most of Bork's aeriels, also is with Montreal.

Dorothy Rupp Ruled Tri-State Tourney Favorite

CHEYENNE (UPI)—An unexpected entry is the favorite of many in the 1964 Women's Tri-State Golf Tournament which got under way today at the Cheyenne Country Club.

Dorothy Rupp, the 1963 medalist and ruler of the Women's golf world in Cheyenne last season, entered the two-day medal play tournament over the weekend after moving away from Cheyenne following her victories of last year.

The tournament was expected to draw nearly 150 top golfers from Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming before the noon deadline.

Mrs. Rupp, who walked off with nearly every major women's golf championship except the Tri-State last year, will head the field which includes Cheyenne's Dorothy Wright, winner of the Shorty Walker Memorial and the Warren Air Force Base Invitational, Casper city champion Jimmie Smith, and Mary Thomas, the 1962 women's state champion.

Other pre-tournament contenders were Joan Yonkers of Denver and Sharon Eberly of Cheyenne, both powerful drivers; Kerri Maupin of Cheyenne; Denver's Helen Hyman; Wilma Gilliland of Kimball, Neb.; and Jane Peth and Alice Swift, both of Cheyenne.

Rowing Olympic Trials Begin On Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP)—While most of the entries spent today in final tuneups for the Olympic Rowing Trials, the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia presented an appeal for acceptance of two late entries.

The trials to pick the U.S. team for the Tokyo Olympic Games begin Wednesday in the Orchard Beach Lagoon and the Vesper Club hopes to have its entries included in the crews racing down the 2,000-meter straightaway course.

The Club claimed in its appeal to the Olympic Rowing Committee and the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen that a mixup in the mails caused the late registration of its two entries.

Jack Kelly, Vesper treasurer, presented the appeal to the registration committee consisting of Dr. William Heisel, Pat Costello and Bill Harahan III, all of the Detroit Boat Club.

The 12-man U.S. Olympic Rowing Committee will consider the appeal should the registration committee rule in the Vesper Club's favor.

Havlicek Set For Operation

BOSTON (AP)—John Havlicek of the Boston Celtics was scheduled to undergo surgery for torn cartilage in his right knee at Massachusetts Memorial Hospital today.

Havlicek suffered the injury in a State Department sponsored tour of Africa from which he just returned.

Havlicek was the 1963-64 top scorer for the seven-time National Basketball Association champions and finished 10th in the league.

"John injured the same knee in college and came back," said Coach Red Auerbach. "I feel he'll do the same this time."

Brown Signs With Packers After Failure in Baseball

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Packers consider Brown a top prospect for either flanker back or defensive back. He is 6-foot-1 and 190 pounds.

Green Bay backfield coach Red Cochran said, "With his good hands and excellent speed either position would be ideal for him. He'll be a real asset."

And he will be in the stiff fight for a place in the line-up.

Boyd Dowler has been the flanker for the Packers. And there has been some talk that Tom Moore, who played half-back while Paul Hornung was under suspension for betting on games, might be given a try at the position now that Hornung is returning.

The Packers' defensive backs include such standouts as Willie Wood, Herb Adderley, Hank Gremminger and Jesse Whitenton.

Rain Stops Tennis Tourney

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The 75th Western Tennis Tournament faced the possibility of moving some matches to hard courts elsewhere in Indianapolis today because of muddy footing at Woodstock Club.

All of the men's singles matches scheduled for Monday were postponed because of a downpour that started at noon. Seven women's singles matches were played before the rain came.

Three seeded favorites in women's singles swept through the first round against Indianapolis opponents by 6-0, 6-0 scores. They were Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Fla., No. 1; Alice Tym of Peoria, Ill., No. 3; and Jean Danilovich of Jackson, Calif., defending champion and seeded No. 4.

Second-seeded Julie Heldman of New York City was leading city champion Marilyn Celandier of Indianapolis 6-0, 2-0, when their match was interrupted by rain.

Girls' AAU Track Meet To Select Olympic Squad

HANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Four hundred girls from five nations compete in this Central California city Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the National AAU Women's track and field meet.

America's two top performers in each event win places on the United States team which will meet the Russians in Los Angeles, July 25-26.

The girls from Tennessee State, with sprinters Edith McGuire and Vivian Brown leading the way, won the team crown a year ago. The Tennessee girls will face 60 other clubs this time.

In addition to athletes from the United States, there have been entries from Jamaica, Mexico, Canada and Formosa.

Meet director Herb Stockman explained that the competition has been divided into girls' and women's sections with 13 events in each.

Miss McGuire won the 100-yard title a year ago and will be back to defend at 100 meters since during this Olympic year, the races are run at the metric distances.

Vivian Brown won the 200 yard dash in 1963 in the championships at Dayton, Ohio, and heads the field for the 200 meter event this time.

Other winners of 1963 who are expected to attempt defense of their titles are:

440—Suzanne Knott, Cleveland Recreation Club.

880—Sandra Knott, Cleveland Recreation Club.

80-meter hurdles—Rosie Bonds, Pasadena Athletic Association.

220 low hurdles—Sally Griffith, Santa Clara, Calif.

High Jump—Eleanor Montgomery, Cleveland Recreation Club.

Banker Cops Canon City Golf Tourney

A banker from Trinidad won the championship of the fourth annual Shadow Hills Golf Invitational meet held the past weekend at the Canon City course.

Ernie Maldonado, owner of the Trinidad Industrial Bank, won over runner-up Jack Van Bibber, a school teacher from Colorado Springs, in the final of the championship flight. Van Bibber was runner-up in the 1963 tournament.

Maldonado, who has won several tournaments in southern Colorado, praised the course and the meet, and said he would be back next year. The lowest score he shot in match play during the tourney was 73.

The medalist winner was Charlie Brown of Colorado Springs who shot a 72 Friday for the lowest qualifying round. Brown was paired against Maldonado in the opening round of the championship flight on Saturday, and knocked out of the contest for top honors.

The only Canon City winners were 16-year-old Wayne Snyder of Canon City who, in playing in his first tournament, was runner-up in the fourth flight, and Orville W. Kemper, who won the fifth flight.

Snyder, who shot a low 75 in the tourney, played well in the final of the fourth flight but lost out to Onel Cornelison of Pueblo, in the last few holes of their match.

The youth is a junior at Canon City High School, and a member of the school's golf team. He was third in the standings, behind David Holt of Canon City, of the Southern Colorado League this past season.

Dock Robinette of Colorado Springs, last year's winner of the tourney, praised young Snyder as an "up and coming golfer." Last year Snyder caddied for Robinette who was knocked out of competition in an early round this year.

The girls from Tennessee State, with sprinters Edith McGuire and Vivian Brown leading the way, won the team crown a year ago. The Tennessee girls will face 60 other clubs this time.

In addition to athletes from the United States, there have been entries from Jamaica, Mexico, Canada and Formosa.

Meet director Herb Stockman explained that the competition has been divided into girls' and women's sections with 13 events in each.

Miss McGuire won the 100-yard title a year ago and will be back to defend at 100 meters since during this Olympic year, the races are run at the metric distances.

Vivian Brown won the 200 yard dash in 1963 in the championships at Dayton, Ohio, and heads the field for the 200 meter event this time.

Other winners of 1963 who are expected to attempt defense of their titles are:

440—Suzanne Knott, Cleveland Recreation Club.

880—Sandra Knott, Cleveland Recreation Club.

80-meter hurdles—Rosie Bonds, Pasadena Athletic Association.

220 low hurdles—Sally Griffith, Santa Clara, Calif.

High Jump—Eleanor Montgomery, Cleveland Recreation Club.

Mexico Elects New President In Quiet Voting

By JACK RUTLEDGE
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Government candidate Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, 53, was chosen Mexico's next president Sunday in one of the quietest elections in the nation's history.

His lone opponent was Jose Gonzalez Torres, 44, of the Party of National Action—PAN—which charged voting irregularities in a dozen states.

The federal electoral commission and high officials said it was a clean election and there were no disturbances.

The final count will not be known for days. Only fragmentary returns were announced Sunday night. These were overwhelmingly for Diaz Ordaz, but not the 90 per cent lead he had been expected to get.

Diaz Ordaz pledged himself to give his full efforts to his new job, which he will take over Dec. 1 for six years.

He is believed to be a bit more to the right than President Adolfo Lopez Mateos. In campaign addresses he promised to continue the moderate policies of the present administration.

Diaz Ordaz was born in a village in the nearby state of Puebla March 12, 1911. His father was a schoolteacher and is a government accountant.

Educated in Oaxaca, Guadalajara and Puebla, Diaz Ordaz became a lawyer and was named to a minor state post.

He was elected to Congress in 1946 and served in various positions in the powerful Interior ministry until Lopez Mateos named him interior secretary in 1958. His outstanding work in the ministry was the breaking of several major strikes early in the Lopez Mateos regime.

He was nominated for the presidency by the government Party of Revolutionary Institutions—PRI—last November he campaigned intensively throughout Mexico's 29 states although the PRI has never lost a presidential election.

Gonzalez Torres also is a lawyer, from nearby Michoacan, and also campaigned hard.

Some officials predicted a record vote, far above the nearly 10 million ballots cast in 1958 when women voted for the first time. An estimated 13.5 million registered.

ear Heloise:

If you dislike the daily job of leaning a gold fish bowl as much as I do, here is a hint which you will love:

Goldfish are lovely and fun to watch but . . .

The children never seem to do the job!

When you have your morning coffee, pull a kitchen chair or stool up to the sink and have it there. Put the goldfish bowl in the sink and let a "gentle" stream of cool water run into the center of the bowl.

The water will stir up the stuff on the bottom and float out over the top of the bowl. His will usually take care of leaning it except for a good leaning once a week.

Watch . . . out . . . that the fish do not float over the top of the bowl. And never tap on the side of the bowl. This might kill the fish. —Mrs. H. Serretti

Ladies, this is a great idea for use of you who have to take care of your children's goldfish! And what mother doesn't? I suggest that you take a piece of nylon net and put it over the top of the goldfish bowl, securing it with a rubber band, "before" pouring in that stream of water! This will keep the goldfish from jumping out. My kind of net or wire screen will do the job beautifully.

And if you have ever seen a recious fish go down the drain, you will know what I mean. — breaks your heart. —Heloise

Central Mortgage and Investment Co., whose business is residential and commercial real estate loans, has invested more than $20 million in El Paso County since it was organized in 1959.

Open house will be observed July 6-10 at the firm's new $500,000 office building located at the intersection of North Tejon Street and East St. Vrain Street.

The firm was incorporated in 1958 as a wholly local - owned business and opened its doors July 1, 1959, under the name of Mortgage Brokers. First offices were located in two rooms in the Independence Building.

The original staff consisted of Fred Walker and one secretary.

In May, 1962, the firm moved into its quarters at 226 N. Tejon St., a change made necessary by the volume of business. At the time of the move to the North Tejon Street address, the firm employed, besides Walker, three other persons.

In the fall of 1962, the operation was converted from a mortgage brokerage to a true mortgage banking organization, the largest locally owned firm of its type in the Colorado Springs area.

In September, 1963, a branch office was opened in Pueblo with Edward A. Hanten, former manager of Johnson - Anderson.

During the first full year of operation, the firm funded $3.5 million in construction. Over the years funds have been provided for residential and commercial construction, land development and other projects.

The firm is correspondent for several eastern investment institutions, including life insurance companies and savings banks.

Central Mortgage is an FHA approved mortgage.

"Our real forte is the service that can be given on VA (Veterans Administration) and FHA (Federal Housing Administration) home loans," Walker said, "where the decision for the approval of the applicant is made right here."

Walker explained that quite often in the case of savings and loan firms and banks, the government agency involved — i.e., VA and FHA — must make the final decisions concerning the customer's approval for a loan. He said that Central Mortgage, being in the business of making home loans, is allowed VA and FHA to make the decision on the spot. This means that instead of waiting for several days or even weeks to find out if his VA or FHA home loan has been approved, the prospective buyer will get the information almost immediately from Central Mortgage personnel.

Since that first year in operation, Central Mortgage has been making over $5 million a year in residential loans available to the metropolitan area of Colorado Springs, plus an anticipated $1 million in commercial loans this year alone.

Walker said that he expects the firm will fund projects worth more than $40 million in the next 18 to 24 months. "I fully anticipate lending over $10 million this year alone," he said.

"The step we are making in our new building will give us as a mortgage banker the finest facilities available in Colorado Springs, including a drive-up window," Walker stated.

Central Mortgage is an associate member of the Colorado Springs Board of Realtors and the Colorado Springs Home Builders Association.

Struggle Over GOP Platform Is Beginning

By LEWIS GULICK

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 1964 Republican platform writers start work today amid a struggle between Goldwater and Scranton supporters over what stand the party should take on civil rights.

As former Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce prepared to lead off a week's testimony from nearly 200 witnesses, the platform committee chairman, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, listed proposed platform wording concerning the new civil rights law as a main point of conflict between the rival camps.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, convention manager for presidential hopeful William W. Scranton, Pennsylvania governor, called an informal meeting of from eight to a dozen of the platform committee members.

Scott said his aim is to persuade some like-minded delegates to work for inclusion of what he termed "moderate, progressive" planks in the party document.

Backers of Barry Goldwater saw Scott's move as an effort to wean support away from the Arizona senator. Goldwater's representative on the committee, Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, said he expects the rival candidate's forces to try to write into the platform wording unacceptable to Goldwater, an avowed conservative.

Goldwater voted against the civil rights bill on grounds that two major provisions are unconstitutional. Scott said Scranton would propose platform language declaring the measure constitutional.

Scranton's field manager said he does not see how the platform writers could balk at a plan terming the measure constitutional after more than half the House and Senate, including Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, a Goldwater supporter, had voted for it.

Rhodes declared in a television interview that it would be meaningless for the party to assert the constitutionality of the law because that is the function of the Supreme Court, not the GOP committee.

Rhodes did say he would go along with a call for enforcing the Constitution's 14th Amendment penalty against states denying voting rights to qualified citizens. The post-Civil War amendment provides for reduction of a state's representation in the U.S. House of Representatives in proportion to the number of citizens denied voting rights.

"Sen Goldwater supports the Constitution and the 14th Amendment is the Constitution," Rhodes said.

Laird told newsmen he thinks his 105-member committee should leave it to the court to rule on constitutionality. He tossed cold water on the 14th Amendment enforcement proposal.

The committee chairman, pledged to neither Goldwater nor Scranton, said the more positive alternative would be to adopt the 1960 and 1962 Republican declarations for vigorous enforcement of voting rights. The 14th Amendment provision, he said, is negative in that it applies only after voting rights have been abridged.

London Art Firm Will Operate in New York

LONDON (AP)—Sotheby's, London's famed art auction firm, is trying to buy control of New York's Parke-Bernet Galleries. If the plan fails, a spokesman said, the British firm will begin its own New York operations.

Sotheby's turnover this year is expected to exceed $35 million. It already has sold nearly $11 million of American-owned art, and it expects a substantial share of its future sales to be American.

A Parke-Bernet spokesman said in New York "there are no arrangements with Sotheby's at this time."

FINLEY PAYS WELL

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—"If a ball player produces he can earn as much money with this ball club as he can with any club," says Charles O. Finley, president of the Kansas City Athletics.

This was Finley's advice to Rocky Colavito when the slugger left fielder, who received $54,000 from Detroit last year, was asked to take a token cut. "Any player is going to have to produce to get it through," Finley added. "Talk to Jim Gentile."

"I've got the best contract I ever had in baseball," said Gentile. He reported on time and if there's one thing Charles O. likes is to have his employees report promptly. Finley had an insurance firm in Chicago and has offices in Los Angeles, Boston and Austin, Tex.

East - West vulnerable. East won two tricks in the suit to complete the defensive book. South ruffed the heart return as East discarded a club. The king of trumps was cashed felling West's lone ten and South trumped his last diamond with the queen of spades as East helplessly undertruffed. On the heart return from dummy, South sat behind East's jack - eight of trumps with the ace-nine. Declarer took the last two tricks to chalk up an over-trick.

At the other table, when East covered the ten of clubs with the queen on the opening lead, declarer permitted him to hold the trick. East could not continue the suit profitably, so he shifted to the queen of hearts. West played the ace and returned a heart taken by North's king, on which South discarded his remaining small club. A club was led to the ace, and dummy was re-entered with the ace of diamonds so that declarer could ruff a club with the five of spades.

The king of diamonds was played and a small diamond to return another club. East

Today's hand resulted in a significant swing when it arose in a recent team-of-four match. The four spade contract was reached by North and South at both tables—however, one declarer succeeded in scoring an overtrick while the other one was actually defeated in his bid.

At both tables, West led the nine of clubs; however the technique employed by each declarer differed from the outset. One Trybunaldza hailed Kennedy's "emphasis on building bridges between nations" but from dummy and, when this scolded the American attorney was covered by East's queen, general for "notoriously being he played the ace from his late" for appointments with Poland. # Taylor Promises Vigorous Steps In Viet Nam War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor arrived in South Viet Nam today, declaring that the war programs already under way are sound but need "vigorous implementation and execution."

"I am sure that in the months to come we will see that vigorous implementation," Taylor said at Saigon Airport as more than 100 police and security agents stood guard.

"I have no illusions about the tasks that face your country in the days ahead," Taylor told the Vietnamese. "The fight against tyranny and injustice is never easy; the road to success is always long. But your brothers in the free world stand with you, and together—with determination, patience and resourcefulness—I know we shall prevail."

Taylor, former chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, was greeted by his deputy ambassador, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, and Vietnamese protocol officials.

Taylor said his presence in South Viet Nam testified to the determination of President Johnson, "and to the determination of the American people,

Japan has agreed to pay a total of almost one billion dollars in reparations and economic assistance to Burma, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, the Philippines and South Viet Nam for damage they suffered as a result of Japanese military actions.

that freedom, independence and peace will prevail in South Viet Nam."

"I am here to assure you of our unstinting support in your struggle against the forces of aggression—there is no time limit in that commitment," he added.

Taylor saluted the "great contribution of my distinguished predecessor," Henry Cabot Lodge.

Tight security prevailed along Taylor's route into Saigon, where terrorists made two bomb attacks Monday, one against the U.S. Embassy. The bomb at the embassy did not explode.

Hundreds of police lined the road from the airport keeping it clear of traffic. Fighter planes roared overhead.

The Viet Cong liberation radio warned Taylor to stay out of Viet Nam or his life would be in danger.

Warm Clothes Counseled for San Francisco

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Republicans bound for the Republican National Convention in the Cow Palace who haven't locked their suitcases had better re-evaluate the contents.

A cold wind off the Pacific Ocean common to San Francisco in July and August may blow no good, warns Karola Sackel, fashion editor for the San Francisco Chronicle.

Shops and department stores are now preparing to correct packing mistakes, for traditionally more visitors bring the wrong clothes to San Francisco than to any other city, says the fashion specialist, who is thousands of miles from home this week attending previews of next season's collections arranged by the New York Couture Group.

Her advice to those en route to San Francisco contains more don'ts than dos.

For the men:

Leave your light-colored suits, madras and seersucker jackets and sports shirts at home unless you plan to visit in the country.

You'll need ties, preferably regimental striped or small-patterned. Nearly all places but Chinatown and Fisherman's Wharf will turn you away without one.

Don't bring a hat, unless you feel undressed without one. Because of strong winds, few San Franciscans bother with them.

Do wear conservative, dark-hued business suits with pale colored or white shirts, preferably the button-down-types.

For the women:

Leave behind your summer dresses, the springy floral numbers and even your pastel suits.

Don't wear short-sleeved or sleeveless dresses, counting on a fur stole to keep you warm at night. The temperature usually drops around 50, and sometimes even lower.

Redeployment In Pacific Area Planned

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration is seriously considering some further redeployment of forces in the Western Pacific to prepare for expanded military operations in Southeast Asia if they become necessary.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor new ambassador to South Viet Nam, is flying to Saigon Sunday, however, with instructions to try to win the anti-Communist war without carrying the fight to Communist North Viet Nam.

Taylor presently plans to spend about two months in South Viet Nam to see whether the U.S.-supported government and military forces can improve their operations.

Taylor is expected then to return to Washington to report to President Johnson and review the question whether the war should be expanded—unless some Communist thrust in the meanwhile triggers its expansion.

There are several developments which could bring about a rapid expansion of the Southeast Asian conflict or a considerable increase in U.S. intervention in it.

Any serious threat posed by the Communist forces in Laos to the Mekong River valley and neighboring Thailand would in the judgment of strategists here bring a quick U.S. reaction, possibly in concert with other South East Asia Treaty Organization allies.

A request from Thailand for U.S. ground forces to help deal with such a threat, is probably the only circumstance which would bring about the dispatch of U.S. ground troops into Southeast Asia in the predictable future. The present judgement of the policymakers, diplomatic and military, is to use U.S. airpower if it is decided to strike more heavily at Communist positions in Laos or to go into aerial attack against Red military positions and supply lines in North Viet Nam.

Five More American Students Reach Havana

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Havana Goldstein, all from New York. Radio says five more American students have arrived in Cuba to join 75 Americans already there despite a U.S. State Department ban on travel to the island.

A broadcast monitored in Miami said the five arrived Tuesday by plane from Prague. They were identified as Susan Rotolo, 20; Robert Collier, 20; Robert Collier, 20; Robert Collier, 20; Robert Collier, 20. The 75 other Americans have toured Cuban farms, factories, educational centers and resorts.

Lodge Wages Uphill Battle in Missouri

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge waged an uphill battle as he sought to crack the pro-Goldwater Missouri delegation and line up support for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

The former U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam arrived here after a seemingly unsuccessful attempt Monday to find Scranton votes in neighboring Kansas.

Lodge met some of the 24-member Missouri delegation Monday night at a private dinner.

One of the few uncommitted members of the delegation, Milburn Shaw, St. Louis GOP chairman, announced a short time earlier that he was going to vote for Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater at the San Francisco convention.

Twenty members of the delegation already had committed themselves to vote for Goldwater and two others indicated pro-Goldwater leanings. Only Shaw had not expressed any preference.

Spread of Algerian Split Is Reported

GENEVA (AP)—The treasurer of Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella's ruling National Liberation Front —FLN— says he took most of the party's funds —$1.1 million— and will not give it back while Ben Bella remains in power.

Mohammed Khider told a news conference Monday he is prepared to give the money to "revolutionary forces opposing Ben Bella."

Khider, a former FLN leader and head of Ben Bella's political bureau, said he left with the money in April 1963.

"Ben Bella is a falsifier and a usurper," Khider said. "I will not give back the money until he and the FLN are out of power."

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Sex differences between men and women are very marked. So the clever Don Juan sways females by adapting even his envelopes and love letters to the different psychology of women. Send for the sex booklet below and thus eliminate many causes for discord in your home.

By - GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D.

CASE T-414. Will Z., aged 37, was a professor at Smith College while I was stationed there.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "take a look at these letters, for I think you'll relish them, since you are an Applied Psychologist."

So I glanced at the envelopes. And they were certainly unique, not just because they were a long, white Number 10 size of envelope.

But the writer was an artist, for he had painted beautiful landscape scenes in water colors on the entire front of the envelope, except for a little slot which he had reserved for the name and address of the recipient.

Only once since then have I seen this personalized artistry employed on the envelopes of letters.

And that was during World War II when a school teacher cousin of mine was corresponding with one of our American aviators stationed in Italy.

This young officer would likewise use water colors and paint beautiful scenes on the entire front of his envelopes.

They were so distinctive that my cousin took them to school to show to her pupils, as well as to the other envious women teachers.

Not only was this Air Corps officer ingenious in the artistic realm, but he was gifted in writing, too, so I really believe his letters were major factor in winning her heart.

For women are naturally inclined to associate poetry and beauty with romance, yet men are generally prosaic and matter-of-fact.

It is the women, for example, who thus relish dining by candle light, whereas most men prefer plenty of bright lights when they eat.

Mrs. Crane and I were once invited to dinner at the home of a prominent advertising executive in Chicago.

His wife had a beautifully decorated table and we started our meal by candle light.

But after a couple of minutes, her husband bluntly said: "All right, Honey. You've given enough romantic atmosphere."

DENTISTRY SCHOOL

DENVER (UPI)—A special committee which includes three former governors has launched a statewide campaign to establish a $6 million school of dentistry at the University of Colorado Medical Center in Denver. The committee is headed by ex-Governors Ed C. Johnson and Dan Thornton and includes former Gov. Steve McNichols. The group says it will have to raise $2 million for the institution. The U.S. Public Health Service will provide $4 million. There are no schools of dentistry in the Rocky Mountain region.

Bowl game on TV or watch a baseball contest.

He may "chew out" his wife unmercifully at such a time, although he may love her with all his heart.

For a man's attitude is summed up fairly accurately in this way:

"When I'm ready to eat, I want to eat! When I'm in the mood for sports, then I want sports. When I want loving, then I'll accept the romantic atmosphere, but DON'T MIX 'EM."

Women, however, try to spread romance over other categories of human behavior. Men have so-called one-track minds!

Send for the booklet "Sex Difference Between Men and Women," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c, for it can prevent unnecessary family feuding.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Women also can't fully understand a man's gruffness when he wants to see a Rose dicatate, Inc.)
